DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:

- I. Claims 1-17, drawn to methods of immunization against malarial disease comprising administering a priming immunization containing alphavirus replicons expressing a gene encoding malarial antigens, and a booster immunization containing the malarial antigens, classified in class 424, subclass 93.2.
- II. Claims 18-26, drawn to immunogenic compositions comprising a first component containing alphavirus replicons expressing a gene encoding malarial antigens, and a second component containing the malarial antigens, classified in class 424, subclass 93.2.

Election Requirement Applicable to All Groups

In addition, each Group detailed above reads on patentably distinct compositions and methods. Each combination is patentably distinct because they are drawn to compositions with differing biochemical and immunological properties and a further restriction is applied to each Group. Applicant must further elect:

1. A single alphavirus (Venezuelan Equine Encephalitis Virus, Semliki Forest Virus, Sindbis Virus).
2. A single malarial antigen or combination of antigens (applicant must specify the combination).

3. A boosting immunization preparation (non-alphavirus expression system; recombinant, synthetic preparation of the malarial antigen, or malarial organism; polynucleotide vector; specific combination of these).

a. Should applicant choose non-alphavirus expression system, applicant must choose the system (poxvirus, adenovirus, adenoassociated virus, retrovirus).

1. Should applicant choose poxvirus, applicant must choose the poxvirus (cowpox, k canarypox, vaccinia, modified vaccinia Ankara, fowlpox).

Applicant is advised that examination will be restricted to only the elected combination and should not be construed as a species election.

The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions II and I are related as product and process of use. The inventions can be shown to be distinct if either or both of the following can be shown: (1) the process for using the product as claimed can be practiced with another materially different product or (2) the product as claimed can be used in a materially different process of using that product. See MPEP § 806.05(h). In the instant case the composition of Invention II can be used to purify antibodies.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art because of their recognized divergent subject matter, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Art Unit: 1645

The examiner has required restriction between product and process claims. Where applicant elects claims directed to the product, and the product claims are subsequently found allowable, withdrawn process claims that depend from or otherwise require all the limitations of the allowable product claim will be considered for rejoinder. All claims directed to a nonelected process invention must require all the limitations of an allowable product claim for that process invention to be rejoined.

In the event of rejoinder, the requirement for restriction between the product claims and the rejoined process claims will be withdrawn, and the rejoined process claims will be fully examined for patentability in accordance with 37 CFR 1.104. Thus, to be allowable, the rejoined claims must meet all criteria for patentability including the requirements of 35 U.S.C. 101, 102, 103 and 112. Until all claims to the elected product are found allowable, an otherwise proper restriction requirement between product claims and process claims may be maintained.

Withdrawn process claims that are not commensurate in scope with an allowable product claim will not be rejoined. See MPEP § 821.04(b). Additionally, in order to retain the right to rejoinder in accordance with the above policy, applicant is advised that the process claims should be amended during prosecution to require the limitations of the product claims. Failure to do so may result in a loss of the right to rejoinder. Further, note that the prohibition against double patenting rejections of 35 U.S.C. 121 does not apply where the restriction requirement is withdrawn by the examiner before the patent issues. See MPEP § 804.01.

Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).
